A gentle place to begin

Print a board and keep it within reach during everyday activities.
Point to pictures as you talk. Allow time, and respond to all ways of communicating.
Honor no, stop, and breaks. Keep the person's usual AAC available.

Dr. Crystal's Tip: Print and laminate these boards to help them last longer.

These are general resources. An SLP or AAC professional can help personalize access and vocabulary.
Apps are provided by independent developers. Check official links for current availability and device requirements.
